“ I take on-call at SSM Health quite often and I sure will miss this guy. When he called me in the middle of the night about a system problem, he was always super nice and he had a voice that made it ok that I got woke up at 2 in the morning. Rest Easy Marvin.

“ What a wonderful soul and a great guy. Marvin always smiled and nothing seemed to bother him. He was so helpful when calling late at night for assistance. SSMH will miss him dearly and prayers go out to his family. Love you Marv.

“ My prayers go out the family. Marvin was a wonderful person I have chat with him many times resetting his password or going over some trouble shooting issues, we both always corresponding with each other over issues that would occur on the overnight shift. He was always a big help to me. He will be deeply missed. :(

“ I have known Marv for so many years I can't even remember how many. He was one of the nicest, most pleasant men I have ever known. His smile could light up a room. He was a very quiet person but you could always strike up a conversation if you mentioned sports to him. He never had a bad word to say about anyone. We used to work nights together and talked of many things. Sports, music, movies, family, etc. It was a privilege to have known him and we will miss him more than I can possibly imagine. There are far too many stories to tell here but know that we felt like a family and he is very much in our hearts. Thank you all for sharing him with us. Rest easy my friend and may God comfort your loved ones.

“ My sympathies to your family. Marvin was a great guy. My wife always thought he should have been a late night DJ. Great voice, Always calm, apologetic and soothing when he had to wake someone with a problem of question. He was always willing to help in anyway he could. He will be missed at SSM.

“ Marvin was such a good-natured guy. He always seemed to be in a positive mood, which really shows one's character when working third-shift! And, he was very patient. In fact, I remember an incident about 30-35 years ago when he called me (in the middle of the night, of course), to cite a problem with something called MAPPER -- which had very unclear messages for the operators to discern. He asked me a question, I gave him my best guess, and then I proceeded to slump down on the floor in our house, next to the (corded) phone, and I fell asleep holding the phone. Somehow, I finally woke up, and Marvin was still there, waiting for me to enter consciousness again and carry on with the task! And, I loved Marvin's laugh, his smile, his person. I will truly miss Marvin.

“ I can remember many nights oncall talking with Marvin. A good man. It seems that since he didn't know who was oncall he would do is standard greeting and when he realized it was me it would become more formal.

“ I am so blessed to have worked with Marvin for a very long time. A more patient, easy going person I have never met. May God bless and keep him and may God comfort all of his family and friends.

“ One of the most gentle and nicest men I've ever met. Always pleasant, Marvin made my job easier by being thorough before he had to call. He always apologized for having to call and wake us up, just a part of who he was. We will definitely miss him, his calm demeanor, his smiling face and his contribution to SSM. I enjoyed working with him immensely. May God's grace and mercy surround your family. My prayers for strength and encouragement are with you.

“ Even though most of my interaction with Marvin was in the small hours of the morning, and it was often him calling at 2:00AM, he was always very kind and understanding about it. He always seemed cheerful no matter the hour which made getting the job done a lot easier. His contributions to the success of this organization are significant. To echo so many others, Marvin will be missed greatly.

“ Though I would not see him in person due to the hours he and I worked he was always a pleasure to deal with. He was very always upbeat and helpful no matter the hour. He was one of those behind-the-scenes folks that made things work smoothly. My condolences to the family. As others said, but bears repeating, he will be missed.

“ I work with Marvin for 9 years. A gentle giant, everybody at work called him Marv, I called him Marvelous. We could strike up a conversation about anything at anytime, he show me the ropes when I first started and will always be indebted to him. Rest easy my friend.
