“ There's an empty chair on Ken lane. In time it will be filled again but for now it holds the memories for all those who knew and loved you my dear brother in law. Your brother John loved you dearly and his heart is heavy now and the silent tears fall. But rest assured Eddie or Eduardo as he would often call you the memories you gave us will once again make us all smile. For me, I can't believe you left so quickly but I am glad that you chose not to linger in pain. Another link in the family circle has been added keep them laughing up there Eddie as you did down here. Missed but never forgotten and never far from our hearts. Until we meet again love. Lynne

“ The phone is not ringing, the coffee pot is cold. Who else could get Ron laughing so early and so bold? Ed, you were my husband's brother, his buddy and best friend. Your picture in his pocket, Ron looks at now and then. Tears fall down with memories of when you both were young. Ed, how much we will remember you, the Rodgers youngest one. Keeping all of you in our prayers.

“ Thank you for thirty years of being a good neighbor and friend -- as the kids were all growing up together, when Jim passed away....always a friendly smile and wave or saying something to make me laugh when you could tell I felt like crying. You will be missed by so many whose lives you've touched.
