“ I want to extend my condolences. I received the bad news today from one of my contacts still at Boeing. George was a great guy to work with and fortunately I had the pleasure for a number of years. What memories. Going to Panteras for pizza, a doughnut from the cafeteria, and getting rice on Thursday. Oh, there was work too. He was very meticulous about whatever he did. It never rubbed off. The other day when we took our granddaughter to see the "Way of Lights", I was remembering when you and George and Chris came over to our house to visit and then we piled into the Malibu to go see the lights at the Shrine. The one event that really had me worried at the time was when he fell off the roof during the winter trying to adjust the antenna. And there was the annual fight with the birds over the cherries. I was mad when he was let got and happy when was eventually hired back but unfortunately it was for a different department so we weren't together again. God bless you George and comfort your family in their grief. I am proud to have known and worked with you.

“ When I married into the Salvato Family (Bob Hoscher's Wife) I was an only child... Wow did I hit the family Jackpot! A loving Italian family every only child's dream? . I acquired a sister to share all of my joys and sorrows, brothers for road trips, weekend BBQs and help with DIY projects. Most importantly my kids gained loving aunts, uncles and cousins. George Savato gave a great deal of people a lot of amazing gifts through his life. I will cherish the most incredible gift he gave my family...his loving and compassionate family!

“ My heart goes out to the entire Salvato family. I grew up next door to them and grew up with the entire family. George was a extraordinary family man who loved his family and adored his wife. You could not say a bad thing about him. He was a solid ten as a man, a husband, and a father.

“ Johnnie and my favorite memory of George is #1, he always had a smile on his face. He always offered to help other's and was a special man to help Nancy when she needed it. And the other memory is he was the best man at our wedding when we were married in the church. The funny thing is the one priest said we are here to witness George and Connie getting married today because when he met us I was standing by George and he thought I was marrying him instead of Johnnie. Everyone there got a chuckle out of that. And that priest still remembers that and shares that story to other's when they are getting married and now he always writes down the grooms name because of that 38 years ago.

“ My heart goes out to the entire Salvato family George was truly one of the kindest people I've ever had the pleasure of calling my friend. He was one of the best "family" men ever! I'd always thought that I would try to follow his example and spend "quality" time with my grandchildren like he did when the time comes. I totally admired him for that and also his devotion to our dear Nancy! Keeping you all in my daily thoughts and prayers!

“ My deepest & sincerest condolences to my cousin's family. I remember George as a young boy since he was twelve years older than me, and I truly regret not knowing him better. He was truly a wonderful person as others have described, and as I knew him at that time.

“ George was my brother's father in law. The very BEST father in law. The very BEST grandfather too. But most importantly, the very BEST husband to Nancy and father to Dana and her siblings anyone could have. He set an example. We are so fortunate to have had him in our lives. I am deeply, deeply sorry for your loss.
