“ Aunty Maggie was an amazing woman of God. We first met at her granddaughter, Jerrynice's, naming ceremony. From that time onwards she became a close friend and big sister.

What was most amazing about Aunty Maggie, was her faith. She truly exemplified a true and faithful follower of Christ. Her faith and trust in God was unyielding even in the face of pain and illness.

Time and time again, she would talk about God's faithfulness and healing power, even in the midst of her illness. She was even the one encouraging me with scripture and words of inspiration as she was going through. She never gave up on her God and He sustained her to the very end.

Aunty Maggie, you have fought the good fight, you have finished the race, you have kept the faith, and now there is in store for you the crown of righteousness.

Rest in peace, dear Sister, until we meet again. ❤️

“ I knew Auntie Maggie in my early University days sharing a room with her daughter, Eunice Yeboah. It's unbelievable what a genteel, motherly, open figure she was. And how we were brought together again on a trip to US before her passing meant i had the pleasure of meeting her again, learning about her strength and resilience in difficulty and the devotion of her children because of how good of a person she was. Auntie Maggie, you were an inspiration to all and i hope you found peace wherever you are. Auntie Maggie da yie! The world was blessed to have you.

“ I am pained by the sudden demise of your beloved mother, Mrs Margaret Aninagyei Yeboah.

My only encounter with her was at Mrs Marfo's engagement at Tafo. On that faithful day, after taking my breakfast, she came around and realised that I had finished eating, so she got closer and affectionately said (maame there is more food available).

I was shy but her approach made me felt at home.

Such a nice person she was.

Mother to all.

During this trying moment we should all not forget to take solace in the fact that there is resurrection after death and we will all meet in the bosom of our Lord one day.

even as you journey home, Mummy May God keep you safe for us.

Rest well ,till we meet again.

RIP.

“ I remember Aunt Maggie holding Jerrynice at her naming ceremony. It was quite a honor to learn what it meant when she said to Jerrynice, “If it is wine, say it is wine. If it is water say it is water.” I can appreciate the wisdom and understanding I have gained from Aunt Maggie. Thank you for modeling a healthy mother-daughter relationship. For this I am also grateful because I still obtain the wisdom you have instilled in my dear friend Unyse.

We send my condolences to the Yeboah family. We will continue to keep you all lifted in prayer.

“ Words cannot explain how much I've missed my precious Mum.

She was my friend, counselor, comforter, motivator, spiritual leader, intercessor, and coach/guardian angel. Now I feel so empty! No one else can ever take her place. No one!

She listened to me with rapt attention and provided me with comfort each time I run to her. She's nurtured me so well and I will have myself to blame if I mess up my life.

Thanks Mum for making me who I am today.

I LOVE YOU and will forever pray for your sweet kind-hearted soul.

May the Heavens be opened for you; enjoy Heaven and please continue to advocate for us.

Rest well dear Mum ~ Akua Assor

“ I still can't believe you are gone Aunty Maggie. In all the time I have known you, you have been a blessing to me. from the regular Sunday fufu, our constant interactions, birthday special prayer (cause I shared birthday with your sister), to your reviews. I will forever miss you mummy. I pray that the Lord will preserve you till we meet in His Glory .Amen

“ My first encounter with her in Somanya during a short visit with her daughter Eunice was so welcoming. I saw in her a strong character with an unshakable faith in the value of truth and was never afraid to speak her thought anywhere and anytime. (perceived it in da advice she gave me dat day) Our second and third meeting was in Kibi, without and with her daughter Unyse respectively.

I remember an advice she gave me, and I quote "don't allow the devil to have his way" as soon as she said dat, I was like wow....ds woman is a Prophetess cos I noe wat she meant even though I had not started talking Aunty Maggie thnx so much for the Special Fufu and Aponkye nkrakra, advices and love you showed towards me during our short encounters.

God knows best, won't ask questions but my only consolation now is that you are in a better place with the Lord

*God made your days useful and your efforts fruitful. I pray He makes your sleep in Him restful
May your soul find rest in Christ alone*

*Your memory will be kept alive
Your Children are much grateful, for the unflinching loyalty, great support and love you showed to them on your journey through this world*

“ I have a lot of questions-for example, why did mum have to leave us now? There are many more, but I also know that only God can answer those questions. I'm not sure what to say because if I really wanna say it all, I would have to write a book instead.

In fact, mum was close to all her children, but I know I shared a special bond with her. She always supported me no matter what. She truly cared for me and my family. She called to check on us so often and she'd always end the conversation with a prayer. She always believed in 1 Thessalonians 5:17 &18. Therefore, we're gonna honor mum's memory by continuing to pray without ceasing. Also, we wanna thank God for taking our mum into His glory for He alone knows why she had to leave this world so soon.

Maa Maggie, Akosua Mansa (as I affectionately called you sometimes), rest well with your maker till we meet again.

“ She was an example of a disciple and follower of Jesus who believed in the power of prayer and service to God. I remember the trips and the times spent in prayer to and fro the journeys. I was hoping to see you again in December when I came around to town but was sad and broken to receive a message of your passing. There are questions only God alone can answer and He knows what’s best for us at all times. My joy is you’re with our maker in a place void of pain and troubles and we will meet again at His feet if He tarries. Thank you Ma for teaching me passion for God, perseverance, faith and hope despite it all.

“ She was an angel sent to earth to raise me and my siblings. I remember I was the closest to her growing up. Her friends called me her 'handbag', because, wherever you see her, there I was. I'm not surprised she passed in my care when she was supposed to be helping me with my babies. The memories I shared with her are a lot. I cannot write them all here. All I can say is that we shared a special bond, that has really broken me. I pray God to give me the strength to carry on without her even though it feels weird. I will always love you mom! Forever in my heart ❤️

My only encounter with her was at Mrs Marfos engagement at Tafo. On that faithful day after taking breakfast, she asked me whether I was ohk or needed more of it. Hmmm I was soo shy but her gestures made me feel soo comfortable.

You are indeed mother to all.

It's my prayer that God keeps you safe for us and strengthens the whole family as well.

RIP Mummy. God be with you till we meet again.
