“ My Beautiful Robin~you were such a dear dear friend, just like a sister to me and I was indeed fortunate enough to have once called you my sister-in-law and Auntie to my son Scotty. Sadly, after being unable to reach you since January 1st I knew something must be very wrong and I reluctantly checked the obituaries as I did not have your husband's number and no living relatives, aside from a very estranged sibling Robert "Bobby". My heart is broken. I sure hope your passing was peaceful and painless - I will miss your warmth, caring, support, compassion and contagious laugh. I will miss you forever Sweet Angel - "Fly High Love!" Wrap your arms around Scott & Scotty for me! The only smile I can muster finding out of your passing is knowing you are with them now, as well as your parents. I now have another Angel looking over me. I will think of you & miss you so much but know you will be that "Cardinal" wherever I go. Until we meet again, God's Speed and fly high ... and KNOW you were and will always be loved!! Your Sis~ Julie<3

“ I wanted to share with Robin’s family & friends how she helped last year. She got me through the hardest part of my separation when my husband left me. She knew him, but reached out to me. That’s a kind soul. That meant alot to me. She will be missed.
My condolences to all that loved her ❤️

Hi Sandy, you don’t know me but I was a dear friend of Robins and recently found out about her death by getting no response from her recently. Would you mind contacting me, I wanted to speak with you. Thank you so much. Feel free to email me at jahjah8@fmail.com so we can exchange numbers. My condolences for your loss as well. I am heartbroken.
